"I hope everyone that is reading this is having a really good day. And if you are not, just know that in every new minute that passes you have an opportunity to change that." - Gillian Anderson

Hot summer nights in Saigon are made for ice cold beer, chilled wine and wonderful food, shared with friends and loved ones. As the heat of the day is slowly cooled by the soft winds and navy skies of night, you return Home, to a menu that is cool and fresh, like rain after a dry spell.

APPETIZERS

SOUTHERN DEEP FRIED SEAFOOD SPRING ROLLS

From a long line of Vietnamese traditional dishes, Chả giò is among those which is reminiscent of colorful, festive feasts, a full and robust flavour, and a beautiful expression of close family ties.

DESSERT

GRILLED BANANA WRAPPED IN STICKY RICE

The sweetness of ripe banana blends perfectly with the delicious, chewiness of grilled sticky rice on charcoal, with a touch of creamy coconut milk.

MAINS

STIR-FRIED CHICKEN WITH MUSHROOMS

Fried chicken with fresh mushrooms, cooked with mixed Vietnamese spices, to bring out the significant flavor from the chicken and the natural sweetness from the mushrooms. The ingredients are stir-fried quickly, to ensure the chicken is tender yet full of flavour- and the mushrooms hold their perfect shape.

FRIED CRAB WITH TAMARIND SAUCE

The tart taste of summer tamarind is combined in a spicy-hot pepper, garlic and chili sauce, delicately balanced with the sweetness of sugar and rich aroma of crab meat.

FEATURED COCKTAILS

SAIGON COFFEE KICK

Cointreau, Kahlua, Vietnamese Coffee and Cream.

The sophisticated mixture of orange-flavored and coffee liqueurs brings the drinker a strong coffee flavor that is slightly sweet with hints of vanilla. The high-fructose corn syrup and cream provides sweetness to undercut any possible bitterness from the coffee.

SAIGON BY NIGHT

Vodka, Pear Juice, Red Guava Syrup Vietnamese Basil, Lime & Salt

Gives the classic screwdriver a new twist by using pear juice and red guava syrup instead of orange juice. Guava juice and vodka are blended then poured into a tall, chilled glass filled with ice. Garnished with the mint leaf, lime wedge and salt.

NGON VILLA

ALL YOU CAN EAT DINING

Opened its gates to the people of Hanoi in May 2016, Ngon Villa showed that anything is possible as long as you put your heart and mind in everything that you do.

Entering Ngon Villa's premises is like entering someone's home. Hidden in Hanoi's unique 24-hour central food street, in the heart of Hanoi's Old Quarter near the train station, this Vietnamese restaurant has made a mark by creating a new concept of "Vietnamese all-you-can-eat menu" that has never been done before successfully by any other establishments.

From the distinct tangy flavors of the northern cuisine, to the central region's spicy delicacies, and to the southern region's diverse sweet food options, there's definitely something to enjoy for every kind of Vietnamese food-lover. The restaurant boasts an array of street food dishes that are specialized in different cities all over the country. But instead of travelling around everywhere, now everyone can have a taste of Vietnam all in one place.

As the name implies, the restaurant is sophisticatedly presented by an old French colonial villa, a haven of both European and Asian architecture. A villa that was originally built for a French colonial captain in the 1880s and eventually was handed over to the local government then was split to be shared by five Vietnamese families as residence and now home to one of Hanoi's top Vietnamese restaurants.

With three menu options to choose from, from the basic cuisine to the most sophisticated and rarest of ingredients anyone can find in the country, and a training ground for one of Vietnam's Iron Chef winner, Ngon Villa tops the overall unique experience one can ever find in the capital city of Hanoi.

It is one of those places where you can get authentic Vietnamese cuisine in an elegant setting and have a personalized service, which in return what makes Ngon Villa the city's additional change maker in the gastronomy scene.

For more info about Ngon Villa, please log on to www.ngonvilla.com. Ngon Villa is located at No. 10 Tong Duy Tan St., Hoan Kiem District, Hanoi, Vietnam.

PARADISE CRUISE LAUNCHES THE TOP-NOTCH CRUISE IN HALONG BAY

Paradise Group launches a new line of cruise ships this year, reaffirming its position as the largest luxury cruise operator in Halong Bay. The first of the new line of cruise ships, known as Paradise Elegance, has set sail in March with the second ship operating in July.

The Paradise Group fleet has started expanding this year with the introduction of a new line of cruise ships, known as Paradise Elegance. The two new Paradise Elegance cruise ships are joining a fleet of 5, which are divided between two lines: Paradise Peak & Paradise Luxury.

Since its inception in 2007, Paradise Group has established itself as the first choice for luxury cruising in Vietnam's most visited natural attraction, UNESCO World Heritage Site Halong Bay. The singular Paradise Peak vessel has long been considered the pinnacle of Halong Bay cruising, while the multiple Paradise Luxury cruise ships have also proved its popularity. The Paradise Elegance positions itself between these two lines: a step up from the Paradise Luxury but not equal to the lavishness offered by the Paradise Peak.

At 25 square meters, the cabins on the Paradise Elegance ships are some of the largest in Halong Bay. Every cabin has a balcony and divided into four categories: Deluxe Balcony (14 cabins), Executive Balcony (13 cabins), Captain's View Terrace Suites (2 cabins), and Elegance Suites (2 cabins).

The Paradise Elegance cruise ships also boast a spa, dining room, sun deck and two bars, which are all spread over five decks. Offering a range of treatments, the Paradise Spa is found on the main deck away from the social areas. Le Marin Restaurant and Le Piano Bar, both of which offer live entertainment, are located on the salon deck. And on the sundeck, the L'Odyssee Bar and sunbathing areas offer 360° views of the bay.

"As with everything at Paradise Group, attention to detail is paramount," says Ms. Carmen Marienberg, Chief Operations Officer of the Paradise Group. "Central to each decision are the myriad wants and needs of our customers, which is why we have developed a reputation for not only meeting but exceeding the expectations of our guests. I can confidently say that this cruise ship offers a premium travel experience when exploring Vietnam's greatest natural wonder."

Allowing visitors to explore Halong Bay more deeply is one of the objectives of the new cruise ships. Where other vessels stay anchored during excursions, the Paradise Elegance cruise ships will continue sailing around the bay and those visiting the attractions will go by tender boats. Guests that don't join the activities will be able to cruise through different parts of the bay instead.

In the evenings, an a la carte dinner can be served either in the dining room or on a private balcony between 7-10pm. This marks another distinguishing factor of the new cruise ships compared with other operators that have fixed dining times and locations.

"Premium service and elegant design are two things I hold in very high regard," explains Mr. Nguyen Cao Son, Managing Director of the Paradise Group. "2017 marks 10 years of operations for the company, and I feel so proud that these two values remain the defining characteristics of our company. This new line of cruise ships is the cherry on top of our anniversary cake."

The Paradise Elegance cruise ships are the only new vessels to set sail in Halong Bay this year. Each new ship weighs 200 tones, is 61 meters in length and 13 meters in height.
